

Leather is a natural material and sometimes needs to be broken in before first use, just like your new pair of shoes.

LEATHER HOLSTER BREAK-IN

You will need your gun, our leather holster, plastic bag, denatured alcohol and a brush. If you have everything ready, please, follow these instructions (do not be afraid to apply a bit of force):

1. Soak the brush in denatured alcohol and apply the liquid to the key parts of the holster that keep your gun in place, such as the trigger guard or barrel covering
2. Run these parts over with the brush a couple of times, just to make sure it is well saturated
3. Place your unloaded gun inside a plastic bag and push it into the holster firmly
4. Let it sit in the holster overnight
5. Take the gun out of the bag in the morning and start carrying with comfort and great fit
6. If you do not experience a better fit when you try holstering your gun the next day, please, repeat the process

LEATHER THUMB STRAP BREAK-IN

Please follow these instructions (do not be afraid to apply a bit of force):

1. First, soak the brush in denatured alcohol and apply the liquid on both sides of the thumb break leather strap
2. Push your unloaded gun into the holster firmly, pulling the strap in the opposite direction
3. Try to close the retention snap
4. If you cannot close the snap, please, apply some more liquid
5. Leave the gun inside the closed holster overnight
6. Release the snap in the morning and try to close it again. You will notice the leather strap has extended to fit your gun
7. If you are still having trouble closing the retention snap, please, repeat the process
